Fall 1994

Alumni Honors

Stout's Alumni Association honored recipients of this year's Distinguished Alumni awards, Outstanding Young Alumni awards and Alumni Service award during Homecoming activities in October.

Recipients of the Distinguished Alumni awards are Barbara J. Wagner Schwehr, a former UW System administrator, and William J. "Bud" Micheels, former Chancellor at Stout. The two Menomonie natives were cited for their outstanding contributions to their profession, community and to the university.

Schwehr '44 who resides in Madison, has had a variety of jobs, beginning with teaching home economics in Escanaba, Mich. She was a payroll officer at an army base in Alabama, a vocational adult education home economics teacher in West Bend and Madison, and for 10 years, a part-time facilities research and project assistant for the Council for Higher Education and the old Wisconsin State University System. Prior to retirement, she served for 14 years as a senior staff associate in the division of facilities/campus planning and capital budgeting for the UW System. As senior staff associate, her major areas of responsibility were in the development of procedures for measuring needs for academic physical facilities for the UW System. This included guideline development, computerized physical facilities inventory systems, space management procedures, evaluation and documenting biennial capital budget project requests for the UW System.

While working in the physical facilities area, she was author and co-author of several publications in the field. She also served on many UW System Administration and statewide committees. She chaired the System Administration Resource Committee on the Status of Women. She also directed the 1983 conference for the Higher Education Facilities Management Association at UW-Madison.

Schwehr was graduated in 1944 with a bachelor's degree in home economics education. While attending Stout, she was a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics fraternity, and the Philomathean, currently Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority. She was a class officer and participated in the band and Stout Symphonic Singers. She is married to Frederick E. Schwehr '43 and has two sons and two grandchildren.

Micheels was graduated in 1932 from what was then the Stout Institute. He later earned master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees at the University of Minnesota. He served as President and Chancellor of Stout from 1961-1972.

Micheels began his career as an instructor of industrial arts and music in Shelby, Mont. He became a coordinator of co-op classes, a critic teacher, and continued in the industrial education field as associate professor and professor. He served as chairman of the department of industrial education at the University of Minnesota from 1954 until he was chosen President of what was then Stout State College in 1961.

During Micheels' term as Chancellor, 14 new graduate and undergraduate majors were added at Stout. A number of new facilities, including the Applied Arts building, were planned to accommodate the expanding enrollment and programs Micheels saw as crucial to maintaining a progressive educational system. He was author and co-author of several books in his profession: "Teaching Techniques in the Armored Force School," 1943, and the "Minnesota Plan for Industrial Arts Teacher Education," in 1958. He served as senior adviser in technical education to the Indonesian government, was a consultant on personnel and training for the Automotive Service Industry Association, and an adviser for personnel and training for the Office of Naval Research. He also worked with the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington.

He has been actively involved in professional organizations and was in leadership roles in all the organizations, serving as president of the American Industrial Arts Association in 1961-1962.

He was honored with the Distinguished Citizen award in 1965, given by the Menomonie Area Chamber of Commerce; Outstanding Achievement award from the University of Minnesota; and "Man of the Year in Industrial Arts Teacher Education" by the American Council on Industrial Arts Teacher Education.

Micheels has retired to Lake San Marcos, Calif. He remains an active member of the Stout Alumni Association Board of Directors.

The Stout Ministry has received the 1984 Alumni Service award for exceptional contributions to students and alumni.

The Ministry is a team effort and the ecumenical staff includes a Catholic priest, a religious sister, a Lutheran pastor, a Presbyterian minister, and a secretary who handles its affairs. Even though members come from a variety of religious faiths, it is a cooperative ministry using a jointly owned facility.

The Ministry programs a variety of experiences for university students. Scripture studies, retreats, book studies, peace and justice issues, personal growth opportunities, and marriage preparation courses are all offered to students and to the Menomonie community.

Jeannette Breckner, a native of Chetek, organizes programs and appointments for the members of The Ministry. She was graduated from Chetek High School and District I Technical Institute in Eau Claire. She has been secretary to The Ministry since 1975.

Father Joe Irvin was graduated from Holy Cross Seminary, La Crosse, and St. John's Seminary, Brighton, Mass. He was ordained in 1967. He has served as associate pastor at Stevens Point and Marshfield, and was principal of Assumption High School in Wisconsin Rapids. He has been associated with The Ministry and associate pastor of St. Joseph's parish since 1977.

The Reverend John G. Mitchell is from Hanover County, Va. He received a B.A. in History from the Virginia Commonwealth University in 1973, and was graduated from Union Theological Seminary in Virginia in 1977. He was assistant to the pastor at the Union Church in Tokyo, Japan, and pastor of Jamestown and Appomattox P.E. Presbyterian Churches in Farmville, Va., and he joined the United Ministries in Higher Education in 1981. He has been the winner of several pastoral awards — the Friends Fellow in '75 and '76, the Campbell Award in 1976, and the James Appelby Book Award in 1977.

The Lutheran campus pastor is the Reverend Tim Megorden. A native of Crookston, Minn., he received his divinity degree in 1973 from Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn., and received his M.S. in marriage and family therapy from Stout. He served as associate pastor of Peace Lutheran Church in Platteville before joining the Ministry in 1977.

Sister Mary Schabert, C.S.J., is from St. Paul, Minn. She entered the religious community of the Sister of St. Joseph of Carondelet in 1956. She taught for the Archdiocese of St. Paul/Minneapolis from 1961-1976, and until 1984 was affiliated with The Ministry. She received her B.S. in education from the College of Saint Catherine in 1961, her M.A. in theology from the University of Notre Dame in 1972, and in 1978 completed a media technology degree at Stout.

The two Outstanding Young Alumni honored at Homecoming are Nancy Claire Smith Kupper and Mary Beth Jung. This award recognizes personal accomplishments, leadership, and exceptional achievement in a career field, service to humanity, and loyalty to the university. The award is given to Stout alumni who have attended the university a minimum of at least one semester and have been employed fewer than 15 years.

Smith Kupper received a B.S. degree in dietetics and nutrition from Stout in 1970. She continued her education at the University of Kentucky and received her M.S. in clinical nutrition in 1972. She has worked as a clinical dietitian, dietetic instructor, and director of nutrition in Kentucky. Since 1976 she has been an instructor in the department of family medicine, and a diabetes nutrition educator, in the department of pediatrics, at the University of Louisville. She conducts nutrition workshops and seminars around the country, and has published numerous articles on nutrition. She is a member of the American Dietetics Association, the Louisville District Dietetic Association, serving as president in 1976 and 1977, and serves on the Stout Board of Business and Industrial Advisers. Currently she is involved in research dealing with childhood obesity. She resides in Louisville, Ky., with her husband, Henry, and son, Austin.

Jung, of Milwaukee, is Oster's director of home economics. She was appointed to the position of director in April of 1976. She joined Oster in 1973 as a home economist in the Oster test kitchen, and was promoted to assistant director of home economics in April of 1975. She also served as a home economist in the home service department of the Wisconsin Gas Company in Milwaukee. She has a B.S. in home economics in business from Stout in 1971. She and her staff are responsible for all aspects of consumer education at Oster.

Jung is a member of the American Home Economics Association, Home Economists in Business, Electrical Women's Roundtable, American Women in Radio and Television, Society of Consumer Affairs Professionals, Junior League of Milwaukee, and TEMPO, a professional business women's organization.

Jung is active in American Home Appliance Manufacturers and is a frequent speaker at their national conventions. She is also on the Mount Mary College Home Economics Curriculum Advisory Board for 1984. □

Golden Memories

Editor's Note: On June 15, Stout hosted alumni who were celebrating their 50-year reunion. Among those attending was Martha Bubeck Schmidt, class of '34. The following piece outlines her recollection of how things were at Stout more than a half century ago.

Fifty-four years ago, incoming freshmen looked forward to two years in the dorm — women at Tainter Hall and Tainter Annex and men at Lynwood. Sunday through Thursday nights meant complete silence from 7-10 p.m. It was lights out at 10:30 p.m. those nights, except in the bathrooms. Some tried to "sneak" in the bathrooms to study, but rarely was one successful. Reprimands were severe. Friday and Saturday nights, it was lights out at midnight and for very special occasions 1 a.m.

Orientation for women began as soon as you were accepted in school. Each one was assigned a big sister. This began with correspondence and extensive interchange. There were no preliminary meetings with staff. Your big sister, if you were lucky, helped you through registration. Screening for admission was carefully done. Anyone not making the grade the first nine weeks went home on the "sore eye special!"

Women at Tainter Hall and the Annex ate their meals at the Hall — 10 to a table. The girl at the head was the hostess and seated to her right was the waitress. Everyone took turns in these responsibilities. It was excellent training. The food was excellent even though you usually knew what to expect each day. For example, Tuesday dinner it was pork, potatoes, peas and pie. Sunday noon, Wednesday and Friday nights we had ice cream with chocolate sauce — sometimes with peanuts as an extra; and muffins with knobs.

The library was staffed by Bruce Antrim, Miss Froggatt and Mrs. Strand. Mr. Antrim would hold his pencil next to his mouth, hold the book against his chest and say "Ask for it correctly and you may have it. The word is Textules, not Textiles."

How impressed we were with Prexy (President Burton) Nelson. He was so distinguished looking, immaculately groomed and always in gray spats.

In 1931 we posted a sketch of the way we wanted the campus to look. No traffic between the industrial arts building (Bowman Hall) and Home Ec building (Harvey Hall) by 1934? How pleased the students would be if they knew these "rash" plans and more materialized. Third floor of the Natatorium and gym were our club rooms, furnished in wicker chairs and a few tables. Clubs met there and all closed with the singing of the alma mater. By the time we were juniors, that practice disappeared. Too bad, it really had some value in developing loyalty. It was a serious experience.

Talk about singing. There was a girls' glee club directed by the phy ed instructor, Bernice Reynolds. We went on trips. We did okay at Knapp and Glenwood City and several times we even sang at Eau Claire.

What a thrill at the dorms. Serenades. Carl Roll, Oren Stamstad, Ted Pearson and Ralph Betterly would come to the Annex and the Hall. We'll never forget "The King's horses, the King's men, marched down the street and they marched back again." Oh, memories!

Ralph and Ted were part of the five-piece band that played at our Saturday night dances. I recall our second to the last number "Oh — that tiger," and remember Ted on the trombone and Ralph Betterly who was really wicked on the drums.

Back in 1930 Miss Mutz and Miss Carson (art and interior design respectively) worked with one representative each of the four-year students to furnish Harvey Hall. All it had was a grand piano. We bought some exquisite refectory tables with benches (no books on the tables, no scratches you know). At one end of the room was the huge portrait of President (Lorenzo) Harvey. At the other end was a picture of the same size of a beautiful tree in a pastoral scene.

The picture had been found in the storage area under the elevated seating in the fourth floor chemistry lecture room. The picture taken to an art gallery in the Twin Cities was evaluated at $700, unframed, back then. Several times in the past 50 years I've tried to locate that picture. I wonder sometimes who has it or if it was sold or junked.

Of course, we remember our academic life too; chemistry with Miss McCalmont and Miss Leedom, and psychology with Mary I. McFadden. I remember those 3x5 cards arranged alphabetically and those questions asked in order as she looked over the top of her glasses. It was my least favorite course and here I ended up with a professional counselor degree, a counselor for 20 years but no 3x5 cards.

Then there were physics and physics problems. I remember tutoring the fellows over at Chase's. You see, I was the only woman in the class.

Letitia Walsh was the backbone of home economics education. She was way ahead of her time. Fifteen years after we had off-campus and block teaching, the UW-Madison moved into something they considered new: off-campus student teaching. We had nine weeks of student teaching, nine weeks of nursery school, and nine weeks of home management house.

Physiology our sophomore year was great. We each had a Chicago alley cat that we worked on for a semester. We wrapped it in a cheesecloth shroud and kept it in a tank. The preservative used on the cats made the cuticle around our nails yellow. It was absolutely forbidden to take any part of the cat out of the lab. But the screams after 10 p.m. library rang through the Annex when one girl pulled the light chain in her room. Her roommate had hung the cat's intestines on the chain.

We had our marvelous cafeteria in the basement of the Home Ec building. I was the salad girl, Kerm Anderson and Huddy Woodworth were the dish washers. I recall those marvelous pies. Never since have I tasted such excellent prune pie with cream.

Eichelberger scholarships were awarded to the top academic woman and man at the end of the first and second year. I won them each year. I mention it because a $100 scholarship during the Great Depression of '31 and '32 was a bonanza. It paid 25 percent of my education each year. Room at the dorm was $90 a semester and $24 a month paid for board and laundry (all those white uniforms)

There are many other memories:

- The annual talent night in which the Lutheran students always took first place. It was engineered by Earl Smith, Norman Jensen, Oc Embretson and John Medla.
- George Hyslopon, the lineotype operator for the Stoutonia. George, being very independent, made only the corrections he wanted to make. I was the proofreader and Mr. Baker would frequently advise me to check the galleys more carefully.
- We'd have the day off before homecoming to work on floats.
- The bonfires in the field across from the Annex.
- The swimming meets.
- The bank robbery (at Kraft State Bank) at 10 a.m. one morning when one robber was killed and everyone went to the funeral home to see him.
- Ma Junk's — a "no-no" night club on the edge of town.
- Maypole dances.
- The flood which swept out the Elk Mound bridge and carried Kathy Rowe to her death as she and four fellows were commuting to school.

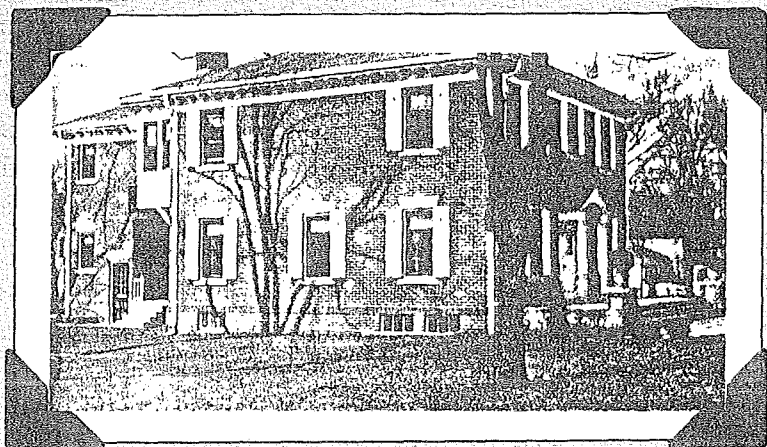

Along with the opportunity to attend vocational conventions throughout the United States, it was a joy to have people say "You're from Stout? It's the best school in the nation for home economics and industrial arts." It gave me an opportunity for a top education. And, of course, I will always remember these words of our alma mater:

"We'll sing her praises many

We'll glorify her name

And on throughout the years of time

Our love for Stout proclaim."□

WVSS's NEW SOUND

Stout's campus radio station, WVSS, had a new sound this past summer thanks to the efforts of ten Menomonie High School students, who operated the facility in exchange for one college credit.

Arthur Matthews, general manager of the station, WVSS, said the students were enrolled in a "radio practicum course" at the university. Matthews explained that an FCC requirement that the station be on the air during the summer has resulted in a "practical learning experience" for the students. "We have to be on the air at least 36 hours a week when school is in session," Matthews said. "In the past we were playing hour-long tapes. This will give us a better sound and let the kids experience a real-life situation."

Each student had an "air shift" of three hours per week for eight weeks and an additional hour a week of "maintenance" such as filing records. They were evaluated three times during the summer. "We're running it like a job," Matthews said. "We're making it a very realistic situation. You're expected to be there at a certain time and to do certain things."

Students in the practicum earned a theoretical salary of $10 per hour in what Matthews jokingly describes as "funny money." They also "earn" $50 per evaluation. The theoretical money then was used to "purchase" a grade for the course, which means more money buys a higher mark.

Tom Slupe of Menomonie High School worked with Matthews on the project which is a continuation of a high school program that normally airs Saturday. A primary difference, however, is that students in the summer class did not select their own music; they had to follow specific formats established by station management.

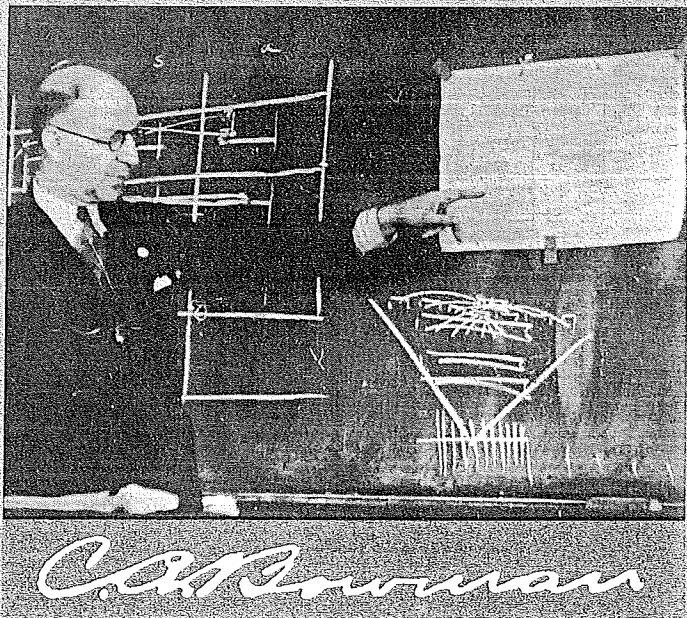

Matthews said that students also received tougher training standards. "There are two kinds of radio: announcer and personality," Matthews said. "We are not allowing them to do personality radio."

Matthews said he hopes the practicum will show the students what it is really like to work in radio broadcasting. "We're not making it glamorous," he said. "Radio and TV are really not glamorous, it's tough work. We want them to find what it is really like out there." Matthews stressed that the purpose of the project was not to train students as radio announcers. "It is intended to train them for a job," he said. "Some may become announcers, but there are practically no jobs within the field."

Matthews sees the practicum as a means of "bridging the gap between the campus and the community" and at the same time giving the students a "realistic job experience." □

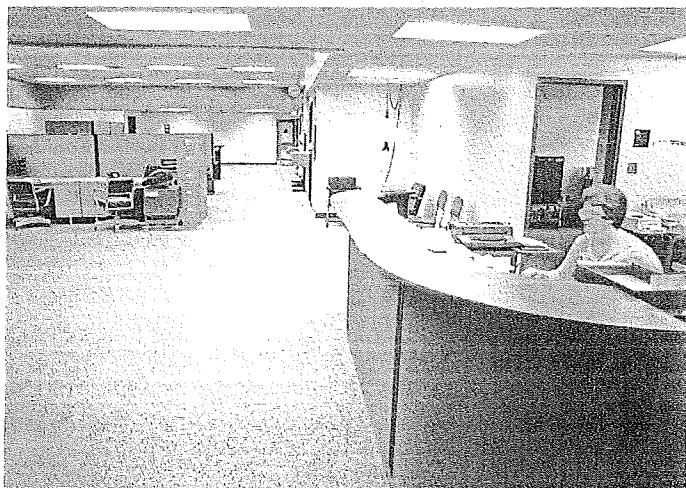

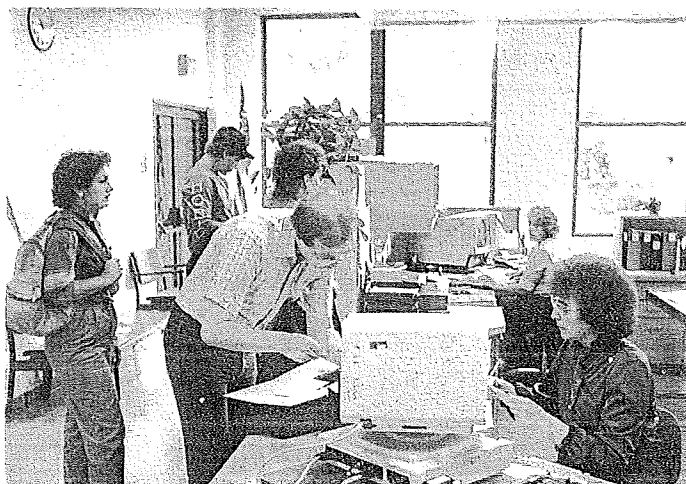

UW-Stout Area Research Center

Stout's Pride

Fourth floor—the former gym.

Clyde Bowman would have been pleased. Bowman Hall, the historic landmark named in his honor, has become an attractive, functional new facility, with its exterior carefully restored.

The $2.3 million project included removal of bricked-up windows in the building's first floor and replacement of all windows with modern units that adhere to the building's original configuration. Inside are modern classroom and office facilities.

The building has become the hub for administrative offices that typically serve students directly. This includes the Counseling Center and biofeedback lab, the Office of Registration and Records, the Admissions office, the High School Relations and New Student Advisement office, the Financial Aid office, Ethnic Services, project ASPIRE, the offices of Planning and Institutional Research, and the Graduate College.

Clyde Bowman was Stout's first dean of industrial education and one-time acting president. He was on the staff from 1919 until retirement in 1952. He died in 1981. □

Faculty get promotions, tenure, emeritus

Promotions in rank, tenure and emeritus status for 38 Stout faculty members were announced this spring by Chancellor Robert S. Swanson.

Promoted from associate professor to professor are Warren Bowlus, physical education and athletics; James McCormick, art; Bruce Siebold, business; Virginia Wolf, English; and Judith Herr, Judith Jax and Gail Roberts, human development, family living and community educational services.

Faculty members promoted from assistant to associate professor are Elaine Fitzgerald, business; Russell James, biology; Susan Nurrenbern, chemistry; Sue Stephenson, Counseling Center; Sandra Gill and Tom Holman, human development, family living and community educational services; John Zuerlein, physical education and athletics; and Charles Krueger and Charles Yost, industrial management.

Moving from instructor to assistant professor are James Buergermeister, habitation resources; Carole Flint and Robert Schuler, English; Bruce Pamperin, social science; James Tenorio, graphic communications; and Margaret Wiinamaki, education and psychology.

Fitzgerald, Buergermeister and Tenorio also received tenure.

In addition, tenure was granted to the following faculty members: Raymond Hanson, industrial management; Patrick Liebergen, music; Dayle Mandelson, social science; George Morrison, business; Richard Tyson, social science; Robert Berkemer, materials and processes; Wray Lamb, apparel, textiles and design; and Leland Nicholls, Stuart Fullarton, Judith Oppert and William Way, habitation resources.

Professor emeritus designations were made for Marybelle Hickner, human development, family living and community educational services; and Edward Lowry, biology. Named assistant professor emeritus were Matthew Reneson, mathematics; Morrell Solem, English; and Betty Viens, food and nutrition.

Emeritus designation is an honor granted to retired faculty members. □

Recipients named for teaching and service awards

Charles Krueger, an assistant professor of industrial management, received this year's Outstanding Teaching Award and Don Osegard, Stout's director of Admissions, received the Outstanding Service Award, according to an announcement by Chancellor Robert S. Swanson.

Both awards were presented at spring commencement ceremonies.

Selection for the awards is made by polling graduating students from the August, December and May classes.

Krueger, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Stout, joined the university staff in 1972. In addition to teaching, he has worked in management consulting, serving more than 10,000 people from 300 different companies and organizations during the past 10 years. Krueger has integrated his management consulting with teaching, bringing actual management situations into the classroom. Krueger has published numerous articles and has accepted a wide variety of speaking engagements both on and off campus. He was project administrator for several different leadership conferences on campus attended by all 16 VTAE districts in Wisconsin. He is preparing a book titled "How to Lead Problem-Solving Teams."

Osegard received his bachelor's degree from UW-Eau Claire and his master's degree from Stout. He joined the Stout staff in 1962 as the university's first full-time Admissions director. He is now responsible for processing annually more than 5,000 applications for admission. Osegard has done extensive work with international students and served as foreign student advisor from 1970-82. He developed a relationship with the U.S. Agency for International Development which resulted in more than 100 Nigerian students attending Stout with assistance from AID.

For the past 20 years he has been active in the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers. He is now chairman of the admissions policies and practices committee for the organization's state chapter.

In announcing the awards, Swanson described them as "significant recognition" by the university for the contribution made by two staff members. He also said that the awards embody a symbol of excellence for which the university strives. □

Anne Marshall, 79, March 13, Zanesville, Ohio. G.S. "Gus" Wall, 80, Menomonie. Luther Mahan, 58, Aug. 12, Menomonie.

Alumni have been gathering all over the country. In May, the Kentucky alumni met in Louisville. Low Berger '36 and Nancy Smith Kupper '70 were responsible for the get-together and program at the Executive Inn. Bob Dahlke, director of Placement, Dave Williams, Foundation director, and Chancellor Robert Swanson '49 were on hand to greet area alumni. Awards were made to several graduates: Lou Rogge '28 earliest graduate; Nancy Smith Kupper '70, most recent graduate; Jack Bongey '49, Cincinnati, farthest from home and most grandchildren; and Don Hamilton '71 birthday celebrant.

Seventy-six graduates, spouses and friends attended the golden anniversary celebration for the classes of 1900-34 on the Stout campus. Tours of campus buildings, the Mabel Tainter Theater, the Wilson Museum, a city bus tour and lunch with the Chancellor were part of the day's program for all of the graduates of the Stout Institute prior to 1935. They all received a memory book and a Stout charm or tie-tac as a special memento of the anniversary. Special gifts were awarded to several alumni who attended. John '34 and Marian Cress Hockel '32 from Watsonville, Calif., were farthest from home; Ruth Grundgripper Patterson '34 has been enjoying retirement longer than any of her classmates; Estell "Bud" Curry '34 has been employed the most number of years; Norman '34 and Erma Hervig Jensen '37 had the youngest grandchild; and Borden Steeves '34 celebrated his birthday closest to the golden anniversary.

Chancellor Robert '49 and Margaret Pennington Swanson '48 traveled with me to California the latter part of June to visit alumni and present alumni updates for three get-togethers. On June 23, the Southern California alumni chapter was initiated with the efforts of Irv Lathrop '50 and Ed Clary '56. The graduates and friends met at Dimitri's in Anaheim for dinner and a program by Chancellor Swanson. A videotape of current activities on the Stout campus was also a part of the program. Nancy Nervig '81, Glendale, was the most recent graduate in attendance, Olga Laurich Bass '37, Anaheim, was the earliest graduate and Karen Kardin Jordahl '64, Fountain Valley, was the birthday celebrant. Karen received her M.S. in counseling from Fullerton in May and now will pursue a marriage counseling license. Steve Grudichak '49, Brawley, was the owner of the oldest car, and Myra Schlegel Douglass '65, Atascadero, was recognized as having traveled the longest distance. Coincidentally, Myra inquired if Olga had known her mother, Zella Joos Schlegel, who was a 1940 graduate of Stout. Olga knew her and was the roommate of Mable Joos Murdock '37, Myra's aunt.

The Bay Area alumni chapter met in Los Gatos June 24, for a tour of the Novitiate Winery, a wine tasting program and a barbeque picnic. Some of the board members who planned the outing doubled as chefs — Jeff Daniels '80, Pete Berends '82, and Barney BS '49, MS '55 and Ruth Schroder Harzarian '51. The alumni board increased in number at this meeting. The following will serve this year: Bill '81 and Margaret Fena Coldwell '81, Jeff Daniels '80, Donna Fain '81 and Ron Saltzman '81. Barney Harzarian was appointed advisor to the alumni board. The Chancellor presented a report about current university activities and entertained questions about the university, staff and the community. The table bouquets from the winery were given as remembrances to Edna Langseth '33, earliest graduate; Steve Balsiger '83, Bernice Hosking BS '82, MS '83 and Jill Thompson '83 as the most recent graduates; Ken and Joyce Fuhrman Hicks '49 who were celebrating their 34th anniversary; and Karen Langballe, a Stout student interning at the Westin St. Francis and whose hometown is Oslo, Norway.

The American Home Economics Association national convention was held at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim. Stout was one of the 30 universities that participated in the alumni get-togethers in the Grand Ballroom of the Disney Hotel June 25. Chancellor and Penny Swanson, and Pat and Dave Reisinger greeted alumni from the 50 states and one international traveler. Ingrid Susan Ahlberg '71 was attending the convention from Ludwigsburg, Germany. Jane Huntzicker '44, Yakima, Wash., was the earliest graduate and Mary Hannemen '75, Brown Deer, was the most recent graduate. Marilyn Drew Peplau, Wisconsin's 1984 Home Economics Teacher of the Year, was in attendance from New Richmond. Marilyn received her B.S. in home economics education in 1973 and a M.S. in 1979. She has taught at New Richmond High School for 11 years. She was nominated for the family living program she initiated for junior and senior students.

Char TerBeest '72 was the subject of an extensive article in "Better Homes and Gardens — Country Home." The article describes her work with making living baskets and provides a profile of her love for the outdoors.

People You Know

By Pat Reisinger, Alumni Director

This will be the last "people you know" written from an office in the Administration building on the corner of Main and Broadway. Sometime in November, the Alumni and Foundation offices will be relocated to the Louis Smith Tainter Home (formerly Eichelberger). The new location will provide easy access to visiting alumni who couldn't find us on campus, and provide reception and meeting rooms for small university and community groups. For all of you alumni who lived there while it was Eichelberger Hall, you'll enjoy seeing the refurbished home, and for alumni who walked by the skeleton of a home during the past few years, come see us when you visit Menomonie.

Cynthia Johnson '84 was chosen as Wisconsin's 37th Alice in Dairyland. A dietetics major, she is from Oregon and was state FHA-HERO president in 1979-80, and a youth representative for the Wisconsin State March of Dimes 1981-83.

Helen Fryklund, wife of the late president Verne C. Fryklund, sends her greetings to alumni from San Clemente, Calif. Chancellor and Penny Swanson visited her in June. Helen continues to enjoy her own home, her flowers and alumni who travel West.

Mrs. Fryklund

The Alumni office has heard from another class that has had a round robin continuously since 1936. That's a lot of letters to read, write and send off, but the following haven't lost a letter yet. Viola Larson Bengtson, Minneapolis; Merle Hill Twesme, Arcadia; Agnes Steinke Resell, Siren; Elaine Thomas Charlick, Brevard, N.C.; Inez Pickering Siro, Chico, Calif.; Esther Spaulding Miller, Denver; Lillian Hanson McCormick, Shellsburg, Iowa; Phyllis Lauerman Wilken, Kankakee, Ill.; Ruth Bubeck Voll, Shorewood; and Margaret Allen Engel, Stewartville, Minn.

Sr. Generose Gervais '45, OSF, president, Saint Mary's Hospital, Rochester, Minn., was among Catholic Health Association officials who met with President Ronald Reagan recently during their annual Federal Policy Institute on Capitol Hill. During the meeting, President Reagan thanked the representatives of CHA for its leadership in refining the federal "Baby Doe" regulations. In turn, Reagan was thanked for his leadership in upholding many of the values of Catholic health care, such as the value of life and the dignity of each person. Sr. Gervais was also honored during the annual Catholic Health Assembly in St. Louis. She is ending her term as a member of the Board of Trustees of the CHA after serving as vice-chairperson, chairperson and speaker of the Membership Assembly.

The third annual Alumni golf tournament was held Saturday, Aug. 4, at Tanglewood. Thirty-four golfers competed for the car, enjoyed a picnic after the tournament and were awarded prizes for their golfing prowess. Bob Eggleston '59 came within three feet of winning the car, but, alas, the dealer had the car back on the lot that evening. Ernie Christiansen '53 beat Earl Herring '52 in a sudden-death playoff. The golfers receiving prizes included Steve Turk and Jackie Moss Van Heirsele '72, shortest drive on #1; Joan Christiansen, longest drive on #3; Larry Braaten BS '36, MS '50 and Teddy Eggleston, closest to the pin on #4; Dick Veleke '74, longest putt on #6; Al Loew '55, most balls in water on #6; and Dick Veleke '74 and Joan Christiansen, low gross. The alumnus coming the farthest distance to participate in the tournament was Bert Mizuha '39 of Hawaii, who was also instrumental in organizing the first Stout golf team. The earliest graduate was Larry Braaten BS '36, MS '50, and the most recent graduates were Keven Derkowski '83 and Dave Houglund '83.

Stout Alumni Scholarships and Fellowship

Do you need an added incentive to begin graduate school? We've got it! The Alumni Association will offer four $1,000 graduate scholarships to alumni annually beginning January '85.
